

RUSH OF VOTES EXPECTED IN NATION AS RECKONING DAY ARRIVES

SUIT FOLLOWS HARDING 'SLUR'

Author of Letter About Negro Ancestry Asks $100,000 of Dayton Paper.

DENIES RETRACTION

Chancellor, Former School Head Here, Called Villain in Reply.

Dayton, Ohio, Nov. 1.—A libel suit asking $100,000 damages was filed in the Montgomery County Common Pleas Court here today against the Burkhart-Herrick Company, publishers of the Dayton Journal, by Prof. William Estabrook Chancellor, formerly of Wooster College, Wooster, Ohio, alleged author of "an open letter" relative to the genealogy of Senator Warren G. Harding.

Chancellor alleged that the Dayton Journal had libeled him by printing a statement claiming that he had retracted a statement made in the "open letter," the court papers.

Declaring statements false.

The plaintiff says that statements of the defendant are false and were known by defendant to be false, and that the plaintiff never modified or retracted his statement as given in Exhibit A.

His petition says that "plaintiff says that he is a citizen of the United States; a resident of the city of Wooster, Ohio; a former school head; an educator by profession and a writer on historical and scientific subjects, among which are 'Our Presidents and Their Office,' and 'The Race Question,' and that he has occupied a number of positions in his profession as educator, notably that of superintendent of schools of Washington, D. C."

Facts important to public.

"Plaintiff says his high conception of his duty as a voter and citizen, as well as a desire to extend his work, 'Our Presidents and Their Office,' induced him to spend twenty-one days in personal investigation of the family history of Warren G. Harding, subsequent to his nomination for the Presidency at Chicago. As a result he learned from the best available sources that the defendant had published an open letter stating his findings with his personal attitude relative to the candidacy of Warren G. Harding."

Says letters were requested.

"Plaintiff says he distributed an open letter only upon personal request from the plaintiff, and that the defendant had published an open letter stating his findings with his personal attitude relative to the candidacy of Warren G. Harding."

"Again, a few lines farther on, the following words, viz: 'As to the Harding ancestry I hereby certify that I am in no way responsible for, never wrote, never authorized to write and know nothing whatever about the circular bearing my name or any other paper that bears my signature.'"

Chancellor then offers an affidavit to prove he signed "the open letter."

"Villagers' Denounced."

In a statement on the suit the Dayton Journal said in its afternoon edition:

"Degraded cabal that made vile war against the women of Warren G. Harding's family, who hurried them to the polls as the friends of the Republican nominee for President, have played their last desperate card."

"As the Democratic State committee predicted Sunday night, suit has been filed in the name of Prof. Chancellor against the Dayton Journal because that newspaper printed the signed denial of Chancellor that he did not make the vile statement."

"The vilification of Chancellor is repudiated at this eleventh hour which induced him to do it? That is for the people to judge."

"The vilification of Chancellor is repudiated at this eleventh hour which induced him to do it? That is for the people to judge."

Reading, Pa., Nov. 1.—Harvey E. Bausher, a clerk in the quarter sessions court here, was held in $10,000 bail today on a charge of libel in connection with the circulation of a document which contained a reflection on the genealogy of Senator Harding.

SO-CALLED THIRD PARTIES MAKING SLENDER SHOWING

by a small majority. The Farmer-Labor party has an electoral ticket in the field and will get a protest vote, but not enough, it is believed, to offset the declaration of the league in Washington the league and the Farmer-Labor forces have been successfully welded, and the effect may be to overturn past political results. At least it has frightened many Democrats into swinging over to the Republican candidate for governor, Louis F. Hart, as the one chance of beating radically. A Farmer-Labor Representative in the First district is confidently expected.

It cannot be said, however, that outside of these scattered sections, and limited number of candidates, the lesser parties are going to exert much effect on the election, and such effect as they will have will be on State rather than national results. There are several States in which the local contests, though not hinging on third party activity, have special interest.

The Michigan Outlook.

One of these is Michigan, where the Democratic Party, headed by Governor Woodbridge W. Ferris—has based his whole campaign on avowed opposition to the league of nations. So frank an attitude of antagonism to the position of Gov. Cox does not lead observers to expect much of a Democratic vote in Michigan for either the State or national ticket. One issue there that has been fought with much heat is a proposed constitutional amendment prohibiting the maintenance of parochial schools. It is naturally bitterly fought by the Catholic Church and has introduced a deplorable amount of religious antagonism into the whole State campaign.

Georgia will be true to history by electing a Democratic governor and Senator, but adds novelty to an otherwise commonplace program by picking for these offices two bitter opponents of the Democratic national administration—Thomas W. Hardwick and Thomas E. Watson. By way of emphasizing the fact that she is out of touch with the nation, Georgia has further proposed to refuse the right to vote to women, despite the constitutional amendment, which was ratified too late to comply with the State law.

Whether this proposal will be successful is yet to be proved.

The New York State election draws its chief interest from the effort of Tammany to put over the present popular and efficient Gov. "Al" Smith, despite the assured Republican landslide in the State. Although Smith will get thousands of Republican votes and run far ahead of his ticket, few expect to witness his election. Prohibition, even inadequately enforced, has reduced Tammany to a mere shell, and it is likely that all the trading which could be practiced in Manhattan can overcome the Republican majority up-State. The Farmer-Labor candidate of Dudley Field Malone, who has been elected to the State assembly in repeatedly refusing to seat Socialists, though regularly elected. Many expect to see a heavy increase of the Socialist vote as a result.

These are in the main the points of interest in States affected by third party movements or abnormal political forces. One more might be added. In Illinois, where a majority approaching 200,000 for Harding may be expected there is an excellent chance of the election of former Senator James Hamilton Lewis, who is now in the State assembly. Lewis is either a singularly shrewd, or a remarkably lucky politician, or perhaps both. Going to the State of Washington in youth he knew of his existence. When the direct nomination of senators was provided by State law Lewis alone embodied the Democratic principles—no body else thought a Democratic nomination worth while. The name of Roosevelt split, and Illinois went Democratic and Lewis, with the nomination obtained by default, was elected United States Senator. Last spring he was elected to the State nomination for governor with a landslide. So it was thrust upon Lewis. Then Gov. Lowden and Mayor Thompson sprung at each other's throats, and so far as the State is concerned the Republican party is split in twain. The outlook is that the Lewis luck is still operative.
